Virginia Tech

Invent the Future™

From its humble beginning in 1872 with 132 students and two programs of study, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, popularly known as Virginia Tech, has evolved into a comprehensive university of national and international prominence. With about 27,500 students in Blacksburg and about 2,500 other students statewide, the university produces world-class scholarship in a challenging academic environment. University tradition is firmly rooted in its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), and its historic land-grant mission is brought to life through learning, discovery and engagement.

Virginia Tech's eight colleges (Agriculture & Life Sciences, Architecture & Urban Studies, Engineering, Liberal Arts & Human Sciences, Natural Resources, Pamplin Business, Science and Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine) and Graduate School offer more degree programs — approximately 200 — than any other university in the state. Virginia Tech is one of the nation's leaders in developing and using instructional technologies. More than 85 percent of departments offer e-learning courses, which have attracted more than 100,000 enrollments since 1998. During this time, more than 700 different faculty members have offered more than 3,500 different courses.

WHAT IS A HOKIE?

That's the most often-asked question in Virginia Tech athletics. The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body. Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell, which is still used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors – Chicago maroon and burnt orange – also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

2009 Season Outlook

The Virginia Tech Hokies are coming off one of their best seasons since joining the Atlantic Coast Conference, finishing 20-11 overall and 11-9 in the ACC in 2008. Tech won 20 matches for the first time since 2002, and the 11 ACC victories equaled the most conference wins by a Hokie squad since becoming a member of the league.

Now, as Tech returns 12 letterwinners, including five starters and the libero, the Hokies are set for an exciting 2009 season.

Erin Leaser

- 1,084 assists, 218 digs and 26 service aces
- Member of ACC All-Freshman Team
- Ranks fifth all-time among Tech freshmen in single-season assists
- Helped spur 11-match win streak
- Made all-tournament teams for Hokie Invite and Seahawk Classic

SETTERS

Sophomore Erin Leaser enters her second year with Tech after a strong rookie campaign at the setter position in 2008. The Allentown, Pa., native played significant minutes for the Hokies early on before taking over sole setting duties in the sixth match of the season against Western Kentucky. From there, Tech reeled off 11 straight victories and went 17-9 with Leaser as the lone starting setter. After tallying 1,084 assists, ranking fifth all-time among Tech freshmen, and receiving a spot on the ACC All-Freshman team, Leaser is poised for a special season in 2009.

Seniors Michelle Lang and Gemma Donovan will provide great depth backing up Leaser at the setter position. Lang ranks fifth all-time in school history with 2,913 career assists, and Donovan is a smart athlete who brings a wealth of knowledge about the game off the bench.

"The setter position is one of our strengths," Tech head coach Chris Riley said. "Erin as a freshman did a fantastic job, and Erin, Michelle and Gemma all made great strides this spring."

Justine Record

- 238 kills, 256 digs and 23 blocks
- Made all-tournament team at the Arkansas Tournament
- Played in 30 of 31 matches last season
- Recorded five double-doubles
- Registered 10 double-digit kill matches

OUTSIDE HITTERS

Senior Taylor Parrish enters her fourth year with the Hokies and will add loads of experience to a talented group of outside hitters. The Brentwood, Tenn., native racked up 266 kills and 2.51 kills per set, ranking second on the team in both categories last season.

Joining Parrish will be sophomore Justine Record, who exploded onto the scene in her freshman year. At 5-8, Record is a powerful player with a blistering spike and a blazing serve. The Redwood City, Calif., native started 28 of 30 matches last season, tallying 238 kills, while recording 256 digs.

Tech also returns junior Amy Wengrenovich, who played in the back row for much of the 2008 season after starting the year at outside hitter. Redshirt freshman Jennifer Wiker solidifies the outside hitter position coming off the bench.

Freshman Morgan O'Neill has received high praise from the coaches and is looking to be a factor this season.

"Outside hitter is a much improved and deeper position than last year," Riley said. "We still have Taylor Parrish and Justine Record and, with the addition of Jennifer Wiker, Morgan O'Neill and Amy Wengrenovich, we have some much needed depth at the position that we haven't had in the past."

MIDDLE BLOCKERS

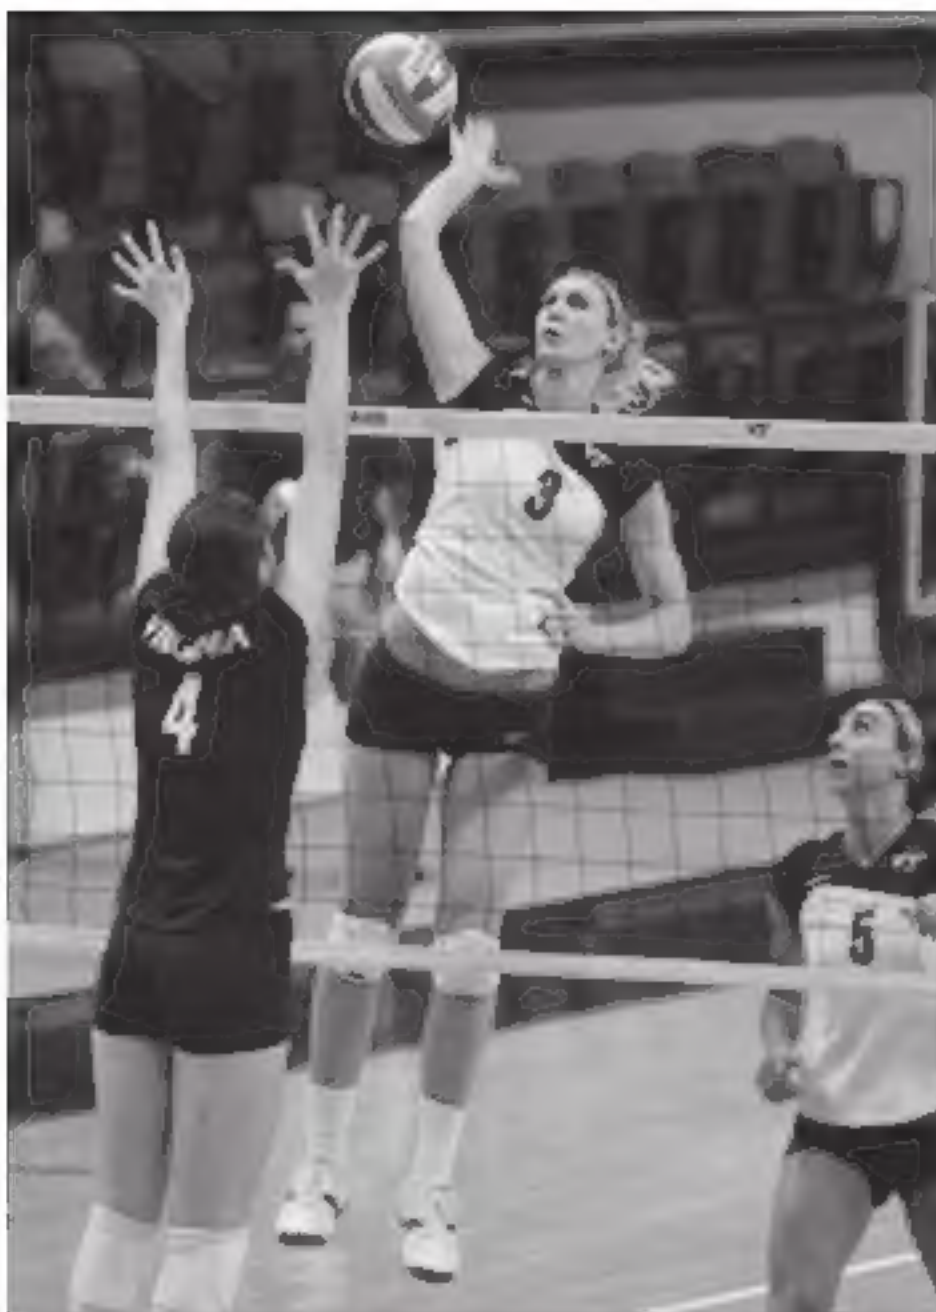

Arguably Tech's strongest position, the middle blocker spot is helmed by 2008 honorable mention All-American Felicia Willoughby, who is coming into her junior year. Willoughby put together one of the strongest seasons ever for a Hokie, shattering the school record and topping the ACC with a .402 hitting percentage. She led the team with 326 kills, averaging 2.83 per set, and 117 blocks, averaging 1.02 per set. Willoughby's efforts earned her first-team All-ACC and AVCA All-East Region honors. The Pleasanton, Calif., native looks to lead the team again this season in the middle and will have plenty of help behind her.

Senior Betsy Horowitz was having the best season of her collegiate career before a back injury, suffered during the North Carolina match on Oct. 9, sidelined her for five weeks. Though she returned, the injury limited her minutes in the final four matches of the season. In the time she was healthy, Horowitz hit at a .351 clip and blocked 61 attacks, tying for second-highest on the team at the end of 2008.

Felicia Willoughby

- 326 kills, .402 hitting percentage and 117 blocks
- Honorable Mention All-American
- First-Team All-ACC and All-AVCA East Region
- First-Team VaSID all-state
- Led the ACC and broke the school record in hitting percentage in 2008
- Led team in kills, hitting percentage and blocks

Betsy Horowitz

- 125 kills, .351 hitting percentage and 61 blocks
- Most valuable player of Hokie Invite
- Tied for second-most on team with 61 blocks
- Tallied four double-digit kill matches
- Suffered back injury at North Carolina

Horowitz's absence helped Kirsty Blue gain valuable experience. The freshman showed positive signs in her court time, including a team-high 14-kill effort in a five-set victory at NC State on Oct. 17.

Sophomore Alison Blasingame moves to middle blocker after playing on the outside last year. Blasingame came on strong towards the end of 2008, earning her first double-digit kill match in a heartbreaking five-set loss to Duke on Nov. 21. She registered 12 kills in the affair. Blue and Blasingame will be two of the several sophomores looking to make an impact in their second year.

Incoming freshmen Cara Baarendse and Liz Trinchere could also play a role this season at middle blocker.

"The middle blocker position is the strength of our program," Riley said. "Felicia Willoughby's records speak for themselves, and Betsy Horowitz is as good an offensive player as anyone in our league when healthy. Alison Blasingame and Kirsty Blue, as well as Cara Baarendse and Liz Trinchere, are all coming along well to really make this a position of strength."

Jill Gergen

- 430 digs and 26 service aces
- Ranked 10th all-time in single-season digs in school history
- Member of Hokie Invite and Arkansas Tournament all-tournament teams

DEFENSE

The Hokie defense should be a position of strength leading into the 2009 season, with redshirt senior Jill Gergen guiding the way. Gergen took over libero duties in 2008 for the graduated ACC career digs co-leader, Amanda Cloyd, and performed well, recording 430 digs on the season.

Tech returns sophomore Kirsten Higareda and adds freshman Jessica Wellman into the fray as well. Higareda saw some action in her rookie campaign, and the duo should give the Hokies' defense solid depth in 2009.

"Jill has done a great job at the libero position, and we expect the same level of serve-receive as last year," Riley said. "We also expect Kirsten Higareda and Jess Wellman to both push. There are a lot of great defensive players in our gym."

SCHEDULE

Tech will open the season with two consecutive home tournaments in Cassell Coliseum. The Hokies will host Montana, for the first time in school history, UNC Greensboro and Liberty in the Hilton Garden Hokie Invitational. The following weekend Tech welcomes East Carolina, Norfolk State and Arkansas in the VT Tournament. The six straight home matches is the longest home stretch to open a season in Hokie history, and the most home matches in a row for Tech since 1995.

The Hokies hit the road for the first time on Sept. 11-12 as they travel to Washington, D.C., for the American Tournament. Tech will play NJIT, Yale and American in the nation's capital. The next weekend, the Hokies head north to Charlottesville, Va., for the Marriott Cavalier Invitational. Tech opens the tournament and ACC play as it faces off against Virginia on Sept. 18, and then takes on Albany and Villanova the next day in the final non-conference matches of the regular season.

The Hokies open the conference season with five consecutive road matches, including the Cavalier contest. They will travel to Florida State and Miami on Sept. 25 and 27, respectively, then take on Wake Forest in Winston-Salem, N.C., on Oct. 2 and Duke in Durham, N.C., on Oct. 3.

Tech will play each conference team twice, once at home and once away on the year, except for Boston College and Maryland. The Hokies will only play the Eagles and Terrapins once. Tech goes to Chestnut Hill, Mass., to square off against BC on Oct. 23, and then heads south to play Maryland in College Park, Md., on Oct. 25.

Chris Riley

In 2008, Riley took a young squad welcoming seven newcomers and turned it into a strong ACC contender. The Hokies went 20-11, 11-9 in the ACC, winning 20 matches for the first time since 2002, and sat atop the ACC standings for much of the conference season. Tech also won 11 straight matches at one point in the season, matching the longest winning streak in school history. Sophomore Felicia Willoughby blossomed under Riley's direction, breaking the school record and leading the ACC in season hitting percentage (.402). Willoughby led the team in kills (326) and blocks (117), and captured honorable mention All-America, first team All-AVCA East Region, first-team All-ACC and first-team all-state accolades. Riley also helped develop freshman setter Erin Leaser, who tallied 1,084 assists on the year, fifth-most among Tech freshmen all time.

Leaser earned a spot on the ACC All-Freshman team, received second-team all-state honors and was named the state's Rookie of the Year by the Virginia Sports Information Directors of America.

Riley guided a young Tech squad to a 14-18 record in 2007, and an 8-14 mark in the ACC, tying for eighth place in the conference. Riley led the group to the program's 550th victory, coming over Wake Forest on Oct. 20, and its second-consecutive sweep of the Hawthorn Suites Hokie Invitational. The Hokies set Virginia Tech records with 611 block assists and 394.5 total blocks as a team in 2007. Willoughby flourished in her rookie campaign, having one of the best seasons ever for a Hokie freshman. The Pleasanton, Calif., native set a Tech record with 172 total blocks on the season, ranking first in the ACC and 11th in the nation. Willoughby also broke a Hokie record with 143 block assists.

In 2006, Riley led the team to its best finish since joining the ACC. The Hokies finished with a 17-14 overall record, their first winning season since 2002. Tech won a school-record 11 conference matches, including season sweeps of the 2005 Co-ACC Champions and NCAA Tournament participants Maryland and North Carolina, en route to a sixth-place finish in the league.

Coach Chris Riley, his wife Tara, and their children Kieran, Aidan and Quinn.

Prior to coming to Tech, Riley spent six seasons at Towson University, where he led the team to five straight 20-win seasons, three Colonial Athletic Association regular season championships, the 2004 CAA tournament championship and the 2004 NCAA Tournament. He won the CAA Coach of the Year award in 2003, and the America East Coach of the Year award in 2001. Riley had an overall record of 144-54 at Towson.

In 2005, the Tigers went 28-7, with four players earning All-CAA honors, while in 2004, Towson earned the CAA regular season title with a 13-1 record. The Tigers swept George Mason and Delaware to win the CAA tournament championship and earn a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

Riley made an immediate impact with the team upon his arrival at Towson in 2000, and in his second year as a head coach, led the team to its first winning season in six years, posting a 28-4 record.

Prior to going to Towson, Riley spent six years at St. John's University in New York. While serving as an assistant with the Red Storm, Riley helped lead the team in its inaugural year as a Division I program. He implemented off-season training programs and assisted with recruiting. Riley also started the first volleyball camp at St. John's.

Riley also spent one season as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Jacksonville University.

A 1993 graduate of Jacksonville with a bachelor of arts in English, he played for the Dolphins' golf team and formed the men's volleyball club. He was the captain of the volleyball club as a senior.

Riley has competed in beach and USA Volleyball indoor leagues and tournaments. In addition to his college coaching experience, Riley also served as the head coach for the Long Island-Big Apple Volleyball Club, a nationally recognized junior team in Nassau, N.Y., from 1998-2000.

Riley and his wife, the former Tara Cahill, are the parents of sons, Aidan and Quinn, and a daughter, Kieran. They reside in Blacksburg, Va.

A very young but tenacious 2008 volleyball squad shattered all expectations last season en route to its first 20-win season since 2002. The unit, which welcomed seven freshmen, won a school-record tying 11-straight matches and equaled their highest win total in the Atlantic Coast Conference, placing seventh in the strong league. Felicia Willoughby led the team in kills and blocks and became only the second Hokie to win All-America honorable mention honors, while setter Erin Leaser became Tech's third-straight member of the All-ACC Freshman team.

For the third straight year, the Hokies won the Hawthorn Suites Hokie Invitational to open the campaign, defeating Maryland-Eastern Shore, Winston-Salem State and Coastal Carolina for the tournament crown. Betsy Horowitz was named tournament most valuable player, while Jill Gergen and Leaser also earned all-tournament recognition. Tech went 1-2 in the Marshall Tournament the following week, with a victory against East Tennessee State but rebounded to sweep the Arkansas Tournament the following week, defeating Tennessee-Martin, Lamar and Arkansas. The Hokies closed out their non-conference schedule with another tournament title at the Seahawk Classic, beating host UNC Wilmington and UNC Asheville.

The Hokies entered conference play with a 9-2 record and on a five-match winning streak. Tech continued the win streak with arguably the strongest volleyball stretch in program history. Tech swept Virginia convincingly in the conference opener at Cassell Coliseum and, three days later, dispatched preseason conference favorite and 2008 NCAA Tournament participant Clemson in four sets at home. The next day, the Hokies dominated Georgia Tech, who was picked to finish second in the ACC, sweeping the Yellow Jackets in impressive fashion. Tech swept Maryland and Boston College on the road in its next two matches to push the winning streak to 11 and match the school record, while opening the conference in first place with a 5-0 record.

On the road against North Carolina, the Hokies won the first two sets but dropped the last three in a tough loss to the Tar Heels, snapping their 11-match win streak. The Hokies regrouped, though, and pulled out a hard-fought five-set victory against NC State in Raleigh, N.C., the next day. Willoughby tallied team season-highs of 25 kills and 10 blocks in the affair, willing Tech to victory.

Tech split its next two weekends in a four-match homestand, winning against Wake Forest and falling to Duke the next day, and losing to Florida State but defeating Miami the following weekend.

After a tough weekend down south with consecutive 0-3 losses to Clemson and Georgia Tech, the Hokies won three of their next four. Tech swept NC State, dropped a 3-0 decision to North Carolina, and cruised to 3-0 home victories against Boston College and Maryland. The victories completed the Hokies' season sweeps of the Wolfpack, Eagles and Terrapins.

The Hokies ended their season with a three-match road trip. After falling at Wake Forest, 3-1, Tech battled Duke and Virginia to the brink in Durham, N.C., and Charlottesville, Va., respectively, but lost in five sets to both. The Hokies ended the season 20-11, with an 11-9 record in the ACC good enough for seventh place.

At the season's end, the Hokies racked up the awards and records. Willoughby finished the year with a hitting percentage of .402, smashing the Tech single-season record of .357 set by Julie Neely in 1986. The Pleasanton, Calif., native earned All-ACC first team accolades, AVCA All-East Region honors and honorable mention AVCA All-America recognition. Willoughby also was named first team all-state by the VaSID and was joined by Leaser, who achieved second team all-state. Leaser also became Tech's third straight member of the ACC All-Freshman squad. The Hokies also excelled academically, as Kristen Cunningham received Academic All-District III honors for her work in the classroom.

KATIE ESBROOK

All America
Honorable Mention

Katie Esbrook already had her place among Virginia Tech's all-time greats at middle blocker heading into the 2006 season, her senior year. But, by the time the season was complete, her name would forever be etched in Tech's record books and her place among the greats secured.

The Barrington, Ill., native put together a stellar final season, en route to becoming Tech's first All-American, by being selected as an honorable mention by the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA).

The two-time preseason All-ACC selection was also the first to garner first-team AVCA All-Region status and to earn a spot on the All-ACC first team.

Esbrook finished her career holding Tech's all-time hitting percentage clip and top block assists record. Hitting .324 in her career, she also holds four of the top seven single season percentage marks. Defensively, she tops all other blockers with 374 assists, while ranking fifth with 87 solo blocks for second place in Tech's total blocks category, with 461.

HALL OF FAME

GINNY LESSMAN-STONICK

Ginny Lessman-Stonick played at Tech from 1980-83. As a four-year starter, Stonick was regarded as one of the top setters in the east and helped lead Tech to a 139-70 record, including an AIAW regional appearance in 1980.

The starsetter and co-captain of the 1983 squad was the only player from District III to garner first-team Academic All-America honors that season. With a 3.88 GPA in electrical engineering, Stonick was also selected to the Academic All-America team her junior year.

In 1994, Stonick's first year of being eligible for induction into the Tech Sports Hall of Fame, she was selected, becoming the youngest member of the Hall. She was also only the second woman selected.

LISA PIKALEK

Lisa Pikalek played at Tech from 1989-92. In four years, the standout helped the Hokies to a 94-56 record while maintaining over a 3.9 GPA in her dual major of psychology and sociology.

By the time she graduated, she was a three-time Academic All-American and four-time All-Metro conference selection, a first in Metro Conference history. She was also named the GTE Academic All-American of the Year in 1992.

Pikalek, who still holds three career records and two single-season top spots at Tech, became one of two Tech female student athletes to have their jerseys retired in 1993.

Pikalek was a 2004 inductee into the Tech Sports Hall of Fame.

Atlantic Coast Conference

THE TRADITION

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now, in its 57th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 114 national championships, including 60 in women's competition and 54 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 257 times.

The year 1980 marked the inception of volleyball in the ACC, and conference play began in 1981. Now entering its 29th season of play, the league has seen its member institutions enjoy great success from both academic and athletic perspectives.

Duke University's Rachael Moss headed a list of 10 volleyball student-athletes who earned ESPN The Magazine Academic honors. A second-team ESPN The Magazine Academic All-American®, Moss was joined by the University of Virginia's Lauren Dickson as a first-team Academic All-District III and eight more who garnered second- or third-team All-District III accolades.

Clemson University's Danielle Hepburn was the only ACC student-athlete to receive All-America status with a third-team selection by the American Volleyball Coaches Association. Nine more took Honorable Mention accolades in addition to All-East Region honors.

The University of Miami highlighted the AVCA East Region as Lane Carico was selected as the East Region Freshman of the Year, and seventh-year head coach Nicole Lantagne was picked as the East Region Coach of the Year.

The ACC again proved to be the nation's premier athletic conference both academically and athletically.

2008-09 IN REVIEW

The 2008-09 academic year saw league teams capture five national team titles and 20 individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 47 national team titles over the last 13 years and has won two or more NCAA titles in 27 of the past 29 years.

A total of 128 ACC teams placed in NCAA post-season competition in 2008-09. League teams compiled a 139-84-1 (.623) mark against opponents in NCAA championship competition. In addition, the ACC had 198 student-athletes earn first team All-America honors this past year. Overall, the league had 266 first-, second-, or third-team All-Americans and the ACC produced nine national Players of the Year and five national Coach of the Year honorees. A total of 88 teams finished their respective seasons ranked in the Top-25 poll, including 33 teams ranked in the Top 10 and six teams that held the nation's top spot.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The conference will conduct championship competition in 25 sports during the 2009-10 academic year - 12 for men and 13 for women. The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954. The conference did not conduct championships in cross country, wrestling or tennis during the first year.

The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981.

Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet held in tennis at Wake Forest University.

Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing, with volleyball deciding its champion by regular season play.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation. The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Tech. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

Academic Services

Whether in the classroom or on the field, expectations placed on Virginia Tech student-athletes remain consistently high year after year. In collaboration with the Tech Athletics Department, Student-Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS) works tirelessly to help Hokie student-athletes achieve their full potential. Services available include tutors, study assistance, computer and technology aid as well as individual skill development programs. In addition, SAASS integrates its services with those of the Virginia Tech community, assisting students in arranging appointments with various University departments, such as their academic advisors, the Registrar, the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid, dean's offices, Career Services, Cook Counseling Center, Cranwell International Center and the Center for Academic Enrichment and Excellence. The department is committed to providing a comprehensive academic and personal development program for student-athletes, offering academic counseling in combination with university academic advising to ensure students receive a complete system of support.

Each team at Virginia Tech is assigned an academic counselor to coordinate individualized support efforts for every team member. Together, SAASS department members assist approximately 500 student-athletes in all areas of academic assistance.

In addition, student-athletes have access to the department's spacious facilities, located in the West Side of Lane Stadium. Opened during the 2006-07 academic year, the SAASS suite, located in the Quillen Family Academic Center, features 18 private tutor rooms, a state-of-the-art classroom, a 36-station computer lab with printer access, a conference room, three quiet areas for reading and studying and a reference library. The office is available between classes, after practice and in the evenings.

Jermaine Holmes is in his first year at Virginia Tech as the director of Student-Athlete Academic Support Services. As director, Holmes provides leadership for SAASS, and along with a staff of 10, oversees the development and execution of programs aimed to help Hokie student-athletes balance their academic and athletic demands and achieve success in both areas.

A former standout student-athlete at Virginia Tech, Katie Ammons enters her 11th year at Tech and works with the men's and women's basketball and volleyball teams in addition to overseeing the SAASS computer resources.

Terrie Repass enters her 35th year of service at Tech as the office secretary and first contact person for SAASS.

SAASS AT A GLANCE

Stakeholders of the office's mission include student-athletes and their families, the university community, coaches and athletics administrators. SAASS seeks to develop relationships with its stakeholders that are founded on trust and respect, and provides the following services to accommodate their needs:

- University and NCAA information
- Orientation
- Academic assessment
- Development of an effective student life program
- Appropriate referrals
- Monitored study environments
- Tutorial programs
- State-of-the-art technological learning assistance
- Student-athlete academic performance evaluations

Student Life

At Virginia Tech, student-athletes don't just play sports. With help from the Athletics Office of Student Life, Hokie student-athletes work outside the athletic arena to develop into community assets and responsible adults. Inspired by the NCAA/CHAMPS (Changing Athletes' Minds for Personal Success) Life Skills Program, the Athletics Office of Student Life creates programs designed to enhance student-athletes in five areas of commitment: athletic excellence, academic excellence, personal and leadership development, community service and career development. The program has been previously honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a program of excellence.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Office of Student Life aims to help student-athletes lead balanced lifestyles, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills. To do so, each team attends two personal development workshops during the year. The workshops educate them in healthy living, service learning, career development, diversity and life skills.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Virginia Tech student-athletes savor their collegiate athletic experiences with the understanding that upon graduation, they will need to secure a job. The Student Life Office worked with Becca Scott in the Virginia Tech Career Services Center to create programs designed to teach student-athletes why they are much sought after for their transferable skills (resiliency, time management, teamwork, competitiveness and ambition).

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Virginia Tech Athletics Office of Student Life is responsible for nominating student-athletes for academic honors and awards. Athletes are nominated for on-campus, Atlantic Coast Conference and national awards. Student-athletes with a 3.0 GPA are rewarded each semester by being honored on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. In 2008-2009, 342 student-athletes were named to this prestigious list.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Virginia Tech student-athletes are involved more than ever in the local community. Having volunteered many hours in the schools, community groups and hospitals, student-athletes are setting a high precedent for all involved with the program. Under the "Hokies with Heart" umbrella, each sports team has a community partner with which they volunteer their time. During the season they also host a home match to honor the partnership program. In 2008-09, the volleyball squad partnered with Kipp's elementary

Assistant Director of Athletics for Student Life Reyna Gilbert and Coordinator of Student Life Danny White run the Athletics Office of Student Life.

SAAC

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is a committee made up of student-athletes assembled to provide insight on the student-athlete experience. The SAAC also offers input on the rules, regulations and policies that affect student-athletes' lives on NCAA member institution campuses. Two members of each sports team serve on SAAC each academic year. In 2009, Kirsty Blue and Betsy Horowitz will serve as representatives for the volleyball team.

Sports Medicine

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Training Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

Their team of certified athletic trainers, orthopaedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists, massage therapists and orthotists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Tech athletes.

Tech is entering its ninth full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room. The facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. The Ferrell Training Room nearly doubled the size of the former Merryman Center facility. Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing in the top five percent nationally. The $10 million Merryman Center includes 2,400 square feet of medical space and a physician's suite equipped with a new state-of-the-art X-ray system, a fluoroscopy unit and a minor procedure room. The training room also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment and treatment modalities.

After the sports medicine staff diagnoses and treats an ill or injured athlete, the staff starts collaborating with the strength and conditioning staff to provide the best injury prevention and performance enhancing programs possible. After an injury, an athlete will go through rehabilitation and physical therapy, then move to weight training as they become able. The strength and conditioning staff uses specific programs for each injury. The sports medicine staff also takes great pride in treating the athletes year-round. Special attention is paid to off-season activity. During this time, the staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program that is followed over a nine-week period between the end of the season and the beginning of spring practice. This same procedure is followed during the summer.

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to the Montgomery Regional Hospital's SWVA Center for Orthopaedics and Schiffert Student Health Center.

If physical therapy is needed, student-athletes can be seen by physical therapists Mark Piechoski and Katie Burns in the Ferrell Training Room. In addition, staff sport psychologist Dr. Gary Bennett is available to all student-athletes for personal and performance issues.

Over the past 11 years, Tech has developed the reputation for producing top-level certified athletic trainers. Graduates are now employed in positions across the country at various levels of the profession. Emily Hutcherson will serve as the athletic trainer for the volleyball team this fall.

Athletic Performance

There's much more to athletic performance than weight training. Always striving to stay on the cutting edge, Virginia Tech has combined strength and conditioning with nutrition and sport psychology to the benefit of its student-athletes. At Tech, these areas are part of the student-athletes' preparation – not just for game day, but also for life. Virginia Tech tries to provide the best services, facilities and support staff for all of its student-athletes to make them better athletes and better people.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Dr. Mike Gentry begins his 23rd season as the Hokies' director of strength and conditioning. As assistant athletics director for athletic performance, his duties include overseeing the strength and conditioning training of athletes in all 21 varsity sports at Virginia Tech. He is directly involved in the training of the football and women's basketball teams and manages programs for nutrition.

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation.

Assisting Gentry in the weight room this year are three full-time assistant strength and conditioning coaches. Terry Mitchell is the assistant director of strength and conditioning. Former football players Jarrett Ferguson and Keith Short serve as coordinators for strength and conditioning.

SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

Virginia Tech offers another important service to all of its student-athletes — sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett also works closely with the Cook Counseling Center.

Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement.

The sport psychology department also offers an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with other injured athletes and talk about their recovery process. Injured athletes may also meet individually with the sport psychologists. One of the sport psychology resources is the Dynavision 2000, a unique conditioning and training program designed to increase focus and concentration, improve coordination and visuomotor reactions and increase peripheral awareness. Virginia Tech is privileged to be one of only a handful of schools with this cutting-edge technology.

SPORTS NUTRITION

Eating healthy and choosing nutritious diets are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life and that's why in July 2002, the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program. Amy Freel serves as the director. Freel, who is one of 16 full-time college dietitians in the country, also serves on the nutrition and performance committee with Dr. Gary Bennett.

Freel works individually with student-athletes to provide them with information they need on their diet. She provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and eating choices to improve performance.

Also in July 2002, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department purchased the BodPod body composition system. Tech is one of a handful of college athletic departments using this type of technology. The BodPod accurately measures body composition (percent of body fat, lean muscle mass and fat mass) within five minutes through air displacement. Research has shown that an increase in lean muscle mass will increase athletic performance. The Sports Nutrition Program has helped countless Tech athletes maximize their athletic performance.

HOKIE STONE STORY

Most of the buildings on the beautiful Tech campus are constructed using Hokie Stone. This natural rock is a 475-million-year-old dolomite limestone, some of which is mined from a quarry located not far from campus. In constructing the buildings at Tech, a stonemason shapes individual stones, arranges them and cements them together with mortar to create walls of great strength and durability.

Blacksburg, Virginia

COLLEGE TOWN, U.S.A.

One of America's best college towns, Blacksburg is a perfect setting for Virginia Tech.

Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, Blacksburg combines the laid-back lifestyle of a small town with the amenities one would expect to find in a major center of higher education. Together, the town and university have worked hard to create a progressive community that ranks among the nation's elite living environments.

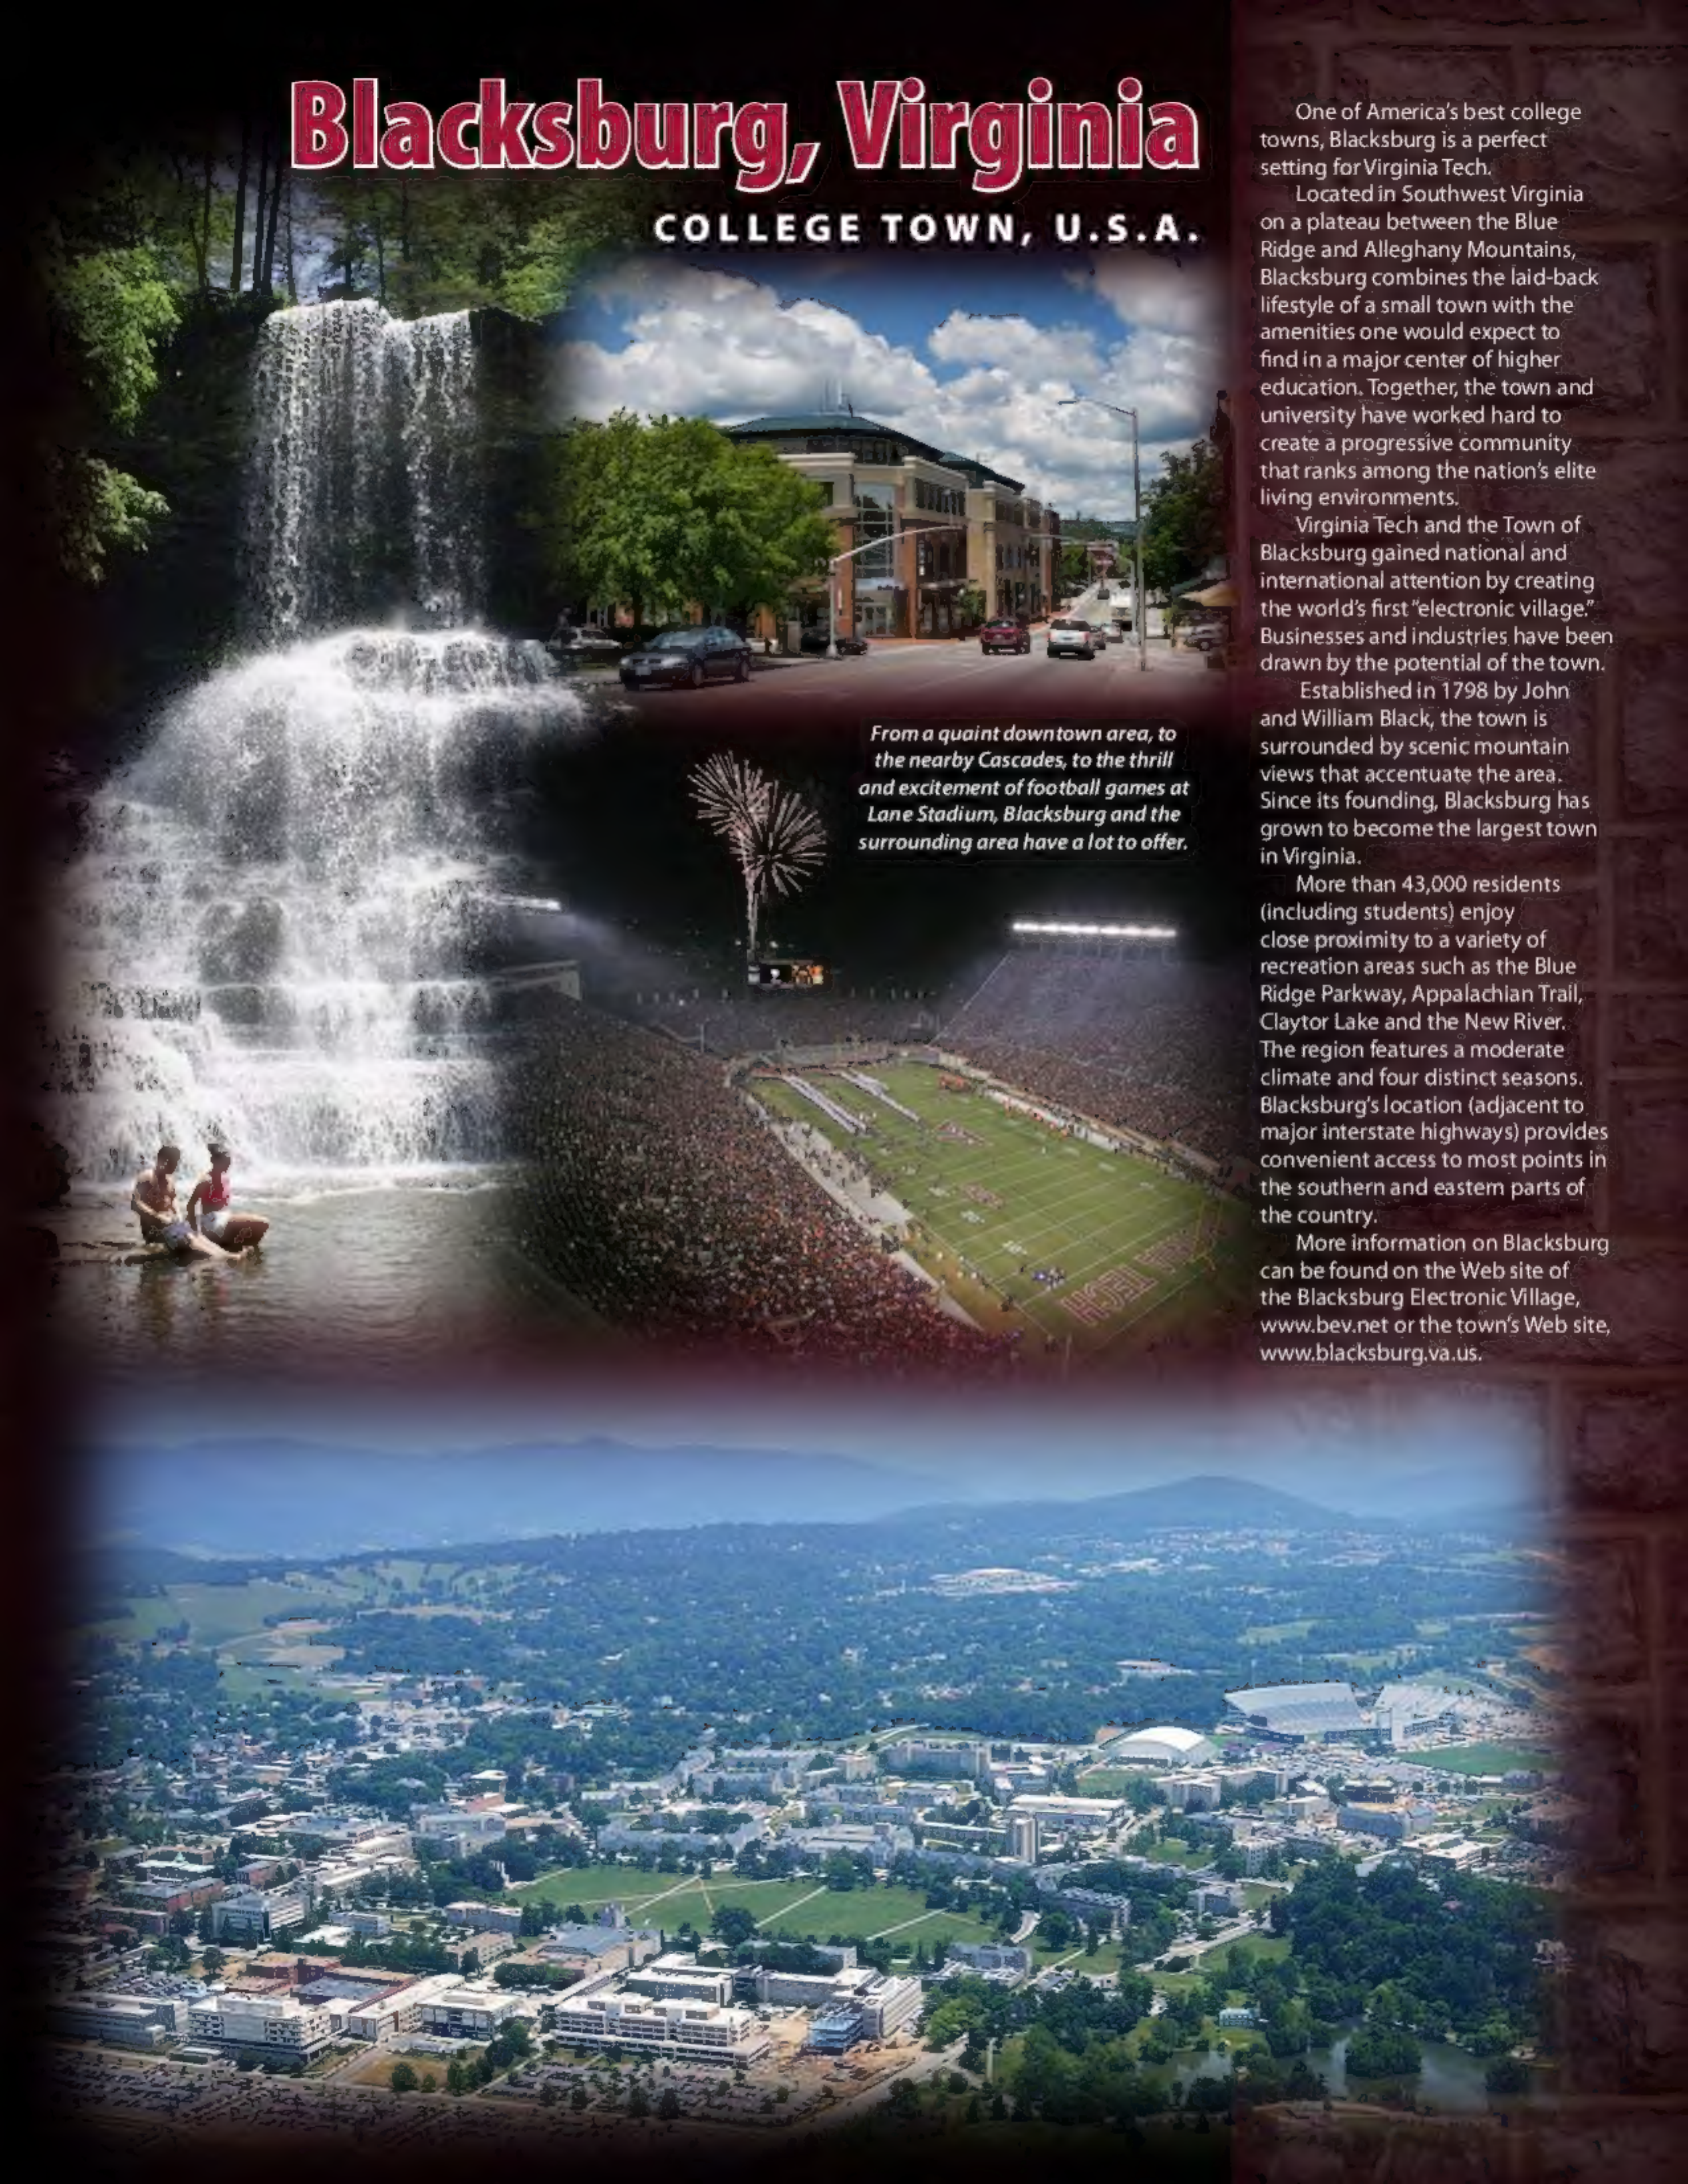

Virginia Tech and the Town of Blacksburg gained national and international attention by creating the world's first "electronic village." Businesses and industries have been drawn by the potential of the town.

Established in 1798 by John and William Black, the town is surrounded by scenic mountain views that accentuate the area. Since its founding, Blacksburg has grown to become the largest town in Virginia.

More than 43,000 residents (including students) enjoy close proximity to a variety of recreation areas such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Appalachian Trail, Claytor Lake and the New River. The region features a moderate climate and four distinct seasons. Blacksburg's location (adjacent to major interstate highways) provides convenient access to most points in the southern and eastern parts of the country.

More information on Blacksburg can be found on the Web site of the Blacksburg Electronic Village, www.bev.net or the town's Web site, www.blacksburg.va.us.

From a quaint downtown area, to the nearby Cascades, to the thrill and excitement of football games at Lane Stadium, Blacksburg and the surrounding area have a lot to offer.
